

The management simulation „Next-Day Inc.“

Description

The online management simulation "Next-Day Inc." is a modern and dynamic online-exercise that simulates a realistic office environment. Due to its focus within the logistics, the exercise is appropriate for many business sectors. It is suitable for various management levels.

In an inbox, participants regularly receive information that they have to deal with.

The documents consist of emails as well as scanned letters, voice messages from your voicemail and video messages.

Furthermore, the online-exercise is dynamic, it is reacting interactively on the answers of the participant.

Execution

The exercise can be carried out on any PC or tablet with access to the internet. A current browser with javascript-functionality is a satisfactory condition to execute the online-exercise.

The simulation does not require any instructions from a moderator. Before starting, participants will perform a short interactive online demo explaining the functions of the exercise.

Applications cases

The online-exercise may be used very well as complementary exercise in any assessment method. It can be performed in one-person audits as well as in group-assessments.

It is suitable for development- and assessment centers and similarly, it is a useful tool in recruitment procedures. It's a helpful complementary element to verify the findings of interview, case studies, presentations, simulations or psychometric tests.

Report

The management simulation is evaluated fully automatically and a password-protected PDF-feedback-report is sent directly to the contact person in your company immediately after execution.

In the report, the following dimensions are rated:

- analytical skills
- decision-making skills
- organizational skills
- general management skills

Which data is stored?

The management simulation "Next-Day Inc." guarantees highest possible security and anonymity; no participant or company data are stored permanently. All results are stored anonymously.

Each participant receives an access code and executes the online-exercise anonymously with this code. He/She must give the following information

- Age
- Male / Female
- Current managerial responsibility
 - Without managerial responsibility
 - Managerial responsibility for up to 20 employees
 - Managerial responsibility for up to 100 employees
 - Managerial responsibility for more than 100 employees

All answers provided by the participant during the online-exercise are stored with the anonymous access code. No participant names and no personal information is stored permanently.

Languages

The online management simulation "Next-Day Inc." is currently available in German and English.

Prices

The online-exercise "Next-Day Inc." is charged per usage, you pay no license costs, just the number of executions you need. When ordering the exercise, you will receive a login for a coordinator account, where you will be able to manage your exercises. Your ordered executions are valid for 12 months.

One execution includes using an one-time login-code for a participant, generating the summary-report and sending the report as PDF-file to the coordinator.

- trial-execution: free of charge
- 1 execution: EU: 86,0 EUR
- 10 executions: EU: 83,0 EUR (per execution)
- 20 executions: EU: 80,0 EUR (per execution)
- 50 executions: EU: 76,0 EUR (per execution)
- 100 executions: EU: 72,0 EUR (per execution)

A call-off order is available for an extra administration fee of 4,0 EUR per execution.

The above mentioned prices are without the applicable VAT.